WHICH MATERIAL IS BEST FOR YOU?

Pressure Sensitive Stickers:

A .005"(5 mil) PVC decal type material. Also known as peel and stick, it comes with a permanent adhesive backing.

USES:

Marking of all types: Pipe, machinery, floor, panel, vehicle, etc.

ADVANTAGES:

Easy to apply. No need for two-sided tapes, screws or nails.

Permanent adhesive prevents removal by vandals or unauthorized persons.

Thickness hugs doors and walls - No chance of snagging clothing, equipment or vehicles.

NOTE:

Large decals (20" and up for example) are tricky to apply. If you fail to apply it straight or if backing touches itself, sign may be ruined. Careful preparation will avoid problems.

Permanent adhesive can be a disadvantage in that a steel door for example may have the finish damaged in removal of the decal.

Aluminum:

Available in .023", .032" and thicker. Most of our smaller signs are .023" (as thick as a dime) and the larger ones are .032" (as thick as a quarter.)

USES:

Indoor-outdoor uses. Great for signs on fences, walls or hanging.

ADVANTAGES:

Easy to punch, drill. Can be screwed to a wall without pre-drilling!

Lightweight keeps costs down.

Excellent durability. Images hold extremely well.

Beautiful, baked polyester coated finish will not crack, peel, fade or chip.
